Going Out of Business. Retiring. Moving.*

“Wilkerson does business the way we do business. There is business, and then there is also understanding that things happen. There are rules and policies, but exceptions have to be made sometimes.

Believe me, with this kind of situation, where you’re trying to retire or move and have to raise cash, you don’t want to worry about your contract; what it says, and whether you’ll have to fight it. This hasn’t been the case.”

E.M.SMITH jewelers

“My name is Bob Smith, and the name of our store is E.M. Smith Jewelers in Chillicothe, Ohio. Through the years, we’ve been members of the American Gem Society, IJO and CBG. I’ve been contemplating this for several years, actually. We considered doing this a couple of years ago but didn’t pull the trigger at the time. It’s a hard decision to make.

I’m not sure if there was anyone else that Wilkerson was working with at the time that was going through a sale when the Coronavirus Pandemic hit. We were ten days into our sale when the Governor closed the state. As things started, we had no idea what was going to happen. We were closed for about six or seven weeks. When we reopened, to our surprise, things just took off again just like they had been before. We took a lot of precautions. We’re still taking a lot of precautions. Because of all the procedures and things we implemented, I think it helped the people who did seem to be apprehensive. Everything seems to be going normally. We haven’t had any bad days.

I would recommend Wilkerson for this type of sale. To me, this is the most important thing. I know Bobby Wilkerson and I’ve talked to Rick Hayes on a number of occasions.
